MINNEAPOLIS (11/19/08) -- Augsburg College men's soccer players Alex Hildebrandt (JR, St. Paul, Minn./Highland Park HS) was named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America team for men's soccer, it was announced on Wednesday.

Hildebrandt was named to the third team in the College Division (non-Division I) on a vote of members of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Academic All-America Committee. It is the second year in a row that an Augsburg men's soccer player has earned Academic All-America honors; Nick Manders was named to the second team last year. Hildebrandt is the 21st CoSIDA Academic All-America selection for Augsburg in school history and eighth since 2005.

A defender, Hildebrandt is a finance major with a 3.86 grade-point average. The award is the latest for Hildebrandt, who earned ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District first-team honors on Nov. 3 and All-Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and All-MAC Sportsmanship Team honors earlier this week.

Hildebrandt currently stands second on the Augsburg men's soccer team in scoring, with four goals and six assists for 14 points, including one game-winning goal and a penalty-kick goal. In his career at Augsburg (53 games, 51 starts), Hildebrandt has 10 goals and nine assists for 29 points, including three game-winning goals. He is the leader of an Augsburg defense that has allowed just 11 goals this season (0.47 team goals-against-average) with 13 shutouts.

Under fifth-year head coach Greg Holker, Augsburg is 12-3-7 overall, 7-2-1 in MAC play. In its first-ever appearance in the NCAA Division III national tournament, Augsburg is carrying a seven-game unbeaten streak (4-0-3) into a third-round contest at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa on Saturday (11/22) at 7:30 p.m.

The ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America program is administered by CoSIDA. Top student-athletes from non-Division I programs, who have already earned Academic All-District first-team honors, are eligible for inclusion on the College Division team. Student-athletes must have reached sophomore athletic and academic standing at their current institutions, have a grade-point average above 3.30 (4.0 scale) and have outstanding athletic credentials. The Academic All-America ballot is voted on by a committee of CoSIDA members. Since the program's inception in 1952, CoSIDA has bestowed Academic All-America honors on more than 14,000 student-athletes in Divisions I, II, III and NAIA, covering all NCAA championship sports.

MINNEAPOLIS (11/19/08) -- Augsburg College men's hockey forward Chris Johnson (JR, Verona, Wis./Madison Memorial HS) was named Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Men's Hockey Player of the Week, it was announced this week. It's the second time Johnson has been named MAC Player of the Week in his Auggie career.

Johnson scored four goals with one assist for five points in Augsburg's weekend sweep of Bethel. In Friday's 4-3 win at Bethel, Johnson had a power-play goal and an assist. In Saturday's 5-3 win in Minneapolis, Johnson netted his third career hat trick, scoring on a power-play goal, a shorthanded goal and a 4-on-4 goal. The sweep was the first for Augsburg over Bethel since the 2003-04 season.

A team captain, Johnson now leads the team in scoring with six points (four goals, two assists). An All-MAC honorable-mention selection the last two seasons, Johnson has 51 points (20 goals, 31 assists) in his 56-game Augsburg career.

This weekend, the Auggies face St. Thomas in a MAC series, with Friday's (11/21) game at 7 p.m. at the UST/STA Arena in Mendota Heights, Minn., and Saturday's (11/22) game at 7 p.m. at the Augsburg Ice Arena.
